Nuts and Bolts of Board Leadership: Get Ready to Nominate Yourself

I. Introduction: Why do boards need nurses?

II. Audience Assessment
   A. Why are you at this particular preconference on board leadership?

   B. How are you already leading?

   C. Identify 2 of your strengths that would be a good fit for a board role.
      1.
      2.

   D. Explain what experiences you have had on professional or community boards (local, state, national). In what capacity have you served? In which role/position would you like to serve in the future?

   E. What challenges, barriers or concerns prevent you from being involved on a board at the local, state, or national level?
III.  Literature Review on Board Leadership
IV.  Sources of Materials for Board Leadership
V.  Exemplars of Nurse Leaders on National Boards
VI.  APNA Opportunities for Board Leadership at State and National Levels
VII.  Feedback and Questions from the Audience
   A. What other information on board leadership do you need?
   B. Would mentoring be desired? What would it consist of?

VIII. Summary Statements

References

Feldt, G. (2010). No excuses. 9 ways women can change how they think of power.

through work-based learning. Journal of Nursing Management, 16, 992-999.

Images within presentation are from clipart.