

Robert E. Sallis, MD, FACSM

Dr. Robert Sallis is Co-Director of the Sports Medicine Fellowship and member of the Administrative Faculty for the Family Medicine Residency Program at Kaiser Permanente Medical Center in Fontana, CA. He currently serves as Second Past President of the American College of Sports Medicine (ACSM) and chairs Exercise is Medicine™, a joint initiative of ACSM and the American Medical Association. He also serves as chairman of the Science Advisory Committee to the California Governor's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports. He is an Associate Clinical Professor of Family Medicine at the UCR/UCLA Biomedical Sciences Program.