

Sharon Kayne Chaplock has over 30 years of experience in the non-profit world and higher education, most recently as the Society for Clinical Data Management's Director of Education. Her work focuses on learning in formal and informal environments with an emphasis on electronic learning. She has an M.S. in Instructional Technology from the University of Wisconsin – Stout, and is a doctoral candidate in the College of Education at Marquette University. Sharon's work on three Department of Education Grants since 2001 has included research on using technology to improve pre-service teacher education in post secondary baccalaureate programs and post-baccalaureate online intensive programs. She is currently investigating the efficacy of digital game based learning on mobile devices.